OFFICE OF THE BISHOP

Dear Members of Blessed Sacrament Parish,

It is a great joy to congratulate Blessed Sacrament Parish on the Diamond Jubilee of its dedication.

Much has been accomplished in the seventy-five years of the parish history; seventy-five years of witnessing to the faith of the people in your community; seventy-five years of growth with and in your parish community. This is also a moment of opportunity, a moment to look to the future and determine how the pattern of individual and parish life can be made ever stronger and effective.

May the accomplishments in which you rejoice today be both the sign and the cause of even greater accomplishment in the future.

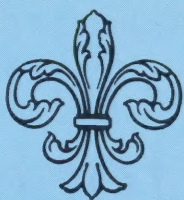

With my blessing, I am

Sincerely in Christ,

James A. Hickey

Our Pride in the Past - Our Hope for the Future

Genesis

September 18, 1903, was an historic date for the old Brooklyn area of the city of Cleveland. Father Thomas P. Lamb, a graduate of St. Mary's Seminary, Cleveland, was appointed founding pastor of Blessed Sacrament Parish. The boundary lines of the new parish included all the territory formerly belonging to St. Patrick's on Bridge Avenue, south of Walworth Run.

Father Lamb sang the first Mass for the congregation on October 4th in St. Procop's hall at West Forty-First Street and Newark Avenue.

Construction of a simple frame church was completed on October 10, 1903. It was located at the corner of Storer Avenue and Rhodes Avenue, now Fulton Road. Father Lamb had purchased the property the previous month. Total cost of the land which covers the block between Trowbridge and Storer Avenues on Fulton Road was eleven thousand dollars.

The original structure was semi-Gothic in style, with a wooden cross at the peak of a gabled roof. Under an arch in the upper facade were five amber-colored lancet windows; the windows on the side walls were also amber. Above the dark-tan walls of the interior, the blue ceiling was divided into six sections decorated with symbols, and paintings of the apostles, identified in Latin. The white Main Altar stood in a recessed archway, flanked by two smaller altars with white statues, one of the Blessed Virgin and one of St. Joseph.

Father Lamb was justly proud of the oak pews and the new organ. He noted in the first yearly report to the diocese that the new church building contained "... all the necessaries for the required services." The furniture and accouterments for the church and the rectory cost thirty-five hundred dollars.

Attendance at Mass was small at first. Father Lamb stated, "People are generous, though few in numbers."

The Diocesan Report for 1904 showed that there were twenty-nine children baptized, and forty-one children who received their first Holy Communion on June 10th. There were seven marriages and eight deaths that year.

Of interest in that diocesan report, is the fact that at that time church property was not tax-exempt, although it is noted on that document that "In future, church and school are exempt." Parish property was insured for a total of twenty thousand dollars.

The Church is, of course, the people, and in order to further serve them, societies were immediately formed within the parish. These were: the Ladies Catholic Benevolent Society, forty members; the Altar Society, sixty members; the Young Adult Society, thirty-two members; and the Children of Mary, sixty-five members.

Under the leadership of Father Lamb, the first catechism classes were organized. The classes met daily, with an average attendance of one hundred students.

Early in January of 1904, Father Lamb was taken ill with typhoid fever. Work on plans and the erection of the new school were delayed for nearly five months. When construction was continued, the people watched the building grow, with pride and anticipation. School was opened for the first time on September 12, 1904. At that time there were only two Sisters of the Holy Humility of Mary to teach approximately

Dear Sir:

We take the liberty of addressing you on a subject which you, no doubt, have already given some thought. Viz., the [institution] of an English-Speaking Catholic church to look after the spiritual needs of the many English-Speaking Catholics, South of Walworth Run.

In the territory South of Walworth Run, and running East and West for quite a distance along the City Limits, there are quite a number of Catholics that are compelled to go a very long distance in order to attend any English-Speaking Catholic church, and who are also deprived, on account of distance, from giving to their children a Catholic education. In view of this fact and necessity, and realizing that something must ultimately have to be done along these lines, the undersigned Gentlemen took it upon themselves to promote the matter, and with this object in view, visited the Reverend Pastor of St. Patrick's Church (Father O'Leary) in whose parish a great number of the English-Speaking Catholics in this aforementioned district are located.

The matter was laid before Father O'Leary, and his advice asked. The Gentlemen were very kindly received by the Reverend Father O'Leary, and he announced himself as being "heartily in favor of the project," inasmuch as he recognized its necessity. The Reverend Father also promised to further the project to the best of his ability, render all the assistance in his power, and advised that a selection be made of representatives, Gentlemen from the different sections of the proposed new parish, for the purpose of meeting together and giving their views, and, if possible, to organize for furthering of the object in view.

Your name has been mentioned as one who would be in a position to act as a representative from your district or immediate neighborhood. Hence, you are requested first to accept this invitation at the same time giving a day or evening when it would be most convenient for you to attend a meeting (at a convenient locality and place). Kindly do not lay this aside, but at least answer the same, so that if you do not wish to act, another may be selected to take your place, inasmuch as it is imperative that the matter be proceeded with at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully submitted,

Anthony Drechsler

one hundred and ten students. This dedicated Order, now named the Sisters of the Humility of Mary, has served Blessed Sacrament continuously since then.

The school was a beautiful red-pressed brick building with eight classrooms. A lower level contained a spacious hall with seating capacity of over six hundred. There was a fully-equipped stage, and all the requirements for complete kitchen service in an area behind the stage. A new boiler had been installed large enough to serve all possible future needs of the entire parish plant.

At this time the sidewalks, roadways and sewers were put in, and electric and gas lighting systems were installed.

The school's crowning glory came on the day a "beautiful and perfectly-toned bell, weighing nearly two thousand pounds," was installed. The bell was blessed by Right Reverend Monsignor Boff on October 16, 1904. In addition to the classrooms in the school, housing for the Sisters was provided on the top floor of the building.

On November 6, 1904, in an atmosphere of joy and thanksgiving, the Most Reverend Horstmann dedicated the new church. The parish continued to grow and new societies emerged. A Drama Club was begun, as well as the Horstmann Club and the Catholic Foresters. There was also a Young Ladies' Sodality of about fifty members, and an Altar and Rosary Society, with about two hundred and fifty members. And, by 1913, two hundred and twenty students were enrolled in the school.

An excerpt from a 1913 parish bulletin gives us some insight about the period:

Year after year in the Parish Annual Calendar, the reader always finds some spicy, interesting short article about our cosy, devotional little church. And really the subject seemingly cannot be exhausted. Listen to the comments of visitors after they see it for the first time. Not unfrequently you will hear them say: "Oh, isn't it beautiful? So neat and devotional"; "I really like such a church. It is inspiring. There is nothing to distract you in your prayers, and you seem to be nearer to God than in those large edifices. It is chapel-like, and yet fully equipped with everything."

In a church such as this, the whole parish becomes like one family. They mingle together socially and there is a good moral influence on the minds of the young. The hours for Masses are fixed according to the Feasts and Seasons to accommodate the wants of the people. The only fault to be found with some of the people is that they either miss Mass for a flimsy cause, or come late. But you will observe that when the Pastor officiates, no one ever leaves the church until after he has entered the Sacristy.

Many fund-raising activities began in those early days and that tradition of generosity at Blessed Sacrament has continued to the present day.

Father Lamb celebrated the Silver Jubilee of his ordination on June 6, 1914. The people felt a tremendous loss when he died on February 24, 1917.

The pastor who would serve the parish longest — from 1917 to 1950 — Father S. W. Wilson, was appointed in April of the same year. Ordained June 20, 1906, Father Wilson was assigned an assistant at St. Edward's Church, Cleveland, then pastor of Sacred Father Wilson had begun his career in the ministry as Reverend Mr. Wilson, rector of Episcopalian churches in the Cleveland area. He was thirty-six years old when he was ordained a Catholic priest.

Building and Growing

Early in the 1920's a convent and parish house were erected. In 1922, as the number of parishioners grew, it was necessary to enlarge the structure of the frame church. The following years saw the additions of classrooms, a library and a clinic to the school. By 1940 the school enrollment had grown to four hundred and eighty students.

On June 30, 1940, Father Wilson was invested with the Rochetta and Mantelletta of a Domestic Prelate.

While loved ones were away defending our country, those at home did their share. The Parent-Teacher Unit sold War Stamps and Bonds, collected needed articles and made baked goods for the U.S.O. and St. John's Canteen. Once again, the entire parish united for a common cause.

There were three assistants at Blessed Sacrament working closely with Monsignor Wilson. They were the Reverends Urban E. Gerhardt, Lawrence J. Andes, and James R. Hennessey.

Reverend Urban Gerhart and Reverend Lawrence Andes were assistant pastors at Blessed Sacrament Church in 1936

Names of parishioners serving in World War II were inscribed on plaques in the Servicemen's Shrine - 1943, above. Sisters of the Holy Humility of Mary have served our parish for almost three-quarters of a century. The Graduation Class of 1949

Monsignor Wilson retired in 1950, and continued to live in the parish house until his death in 1957 at the age of eighty-seven. In 1956, the pastor emeritus had been honored at a Solemn High Mass of Thanksgiving for his fiftieth anniversary. Due to his age, he did not attend, but blessed parishioners from a rectory window after the Mass. "Nearly the entire parish" had gathered outside his bedroom window. He had come to the window, smiled, and given his blessing. It was his last public appearance.

Archbishop Edward F. Hoban appointed Father Edward S. Hannon as third pastor of Blessed Sacrament. Father Hannon's prior assignment had been as pastor of St. Mary's Parish in Wooster, Ohio. He was well-known to the people on the west side of Cleveland due to a former assignment as an assistant pastor at St. Patrick's Church and chaplain at St. John's Hospital.

Father Hannon was born in Youngstown, Ohio. After leaving school, he worked for seven years with a Youngstown firm, and was an assistant claims clerk when he left in 1917 to attend St. Charles College in Baltimore, Maryland. After his freshman year there, he entered the army as a buck private, and was discharged a year later as a second lieutenant. He studied at St. Mary's in Cleveland, Mount St. Mary's in Cincinnati, and Catholic University in Washington, after he had completed his work at St. Charles College.

The need for a larger church was becoming more and more apparent as the parish membership continued to grow. The parishioners, once again, demonstrated their selflessness and love of their faith by undertaking a building fund to raise five hundred thousand dollars.

The cornerstone for the new church was laid early in 1953, the year the church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. On the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, December 8th, the new church was dedicated by Archbishop Hoban. That day the Sisters of the Holy Humility of Mary, whose religious order has staffed the school for seventy-four years, were hostesses to former teachers at a dinner in the school auditorium. Guests of honor included Mother M. Lorita, H.H.M., superior general of the order, and Sister M. Carmelita, both graduates of the parish school.

The inscription on the cornerstone is in gold lettering and reads, "Thanks be to God, and His Blessed Mother." The structure is Romanesque in style, with a seating capacity of eight hundred.

It is constructed of brick, stone, and steel, with a glazed tile roof. Interior walls are finished in unglazed tile with stone trim windows. The floors in the nave are terrazzo, and the pews and confessionals, light oak. The sanctuary floor, wainscoting, and three altars are finished in imported Italian marble.

Above the main entrance is a rose window, twenty-feet high. Christ is depicted instituting the Blessed Sacrament, along with a seven-foot high monstrance, a replica of a window used in St. John Cathedral. The church has twenty stained-glass windows.

Under the church there is a large auditorium with a kitchen as well as several meeting rooms. For twenty-five years this building has served as the spiritual and social hub of the parish.

Before construction of the new church began, it was necessary to move the rectory from the corner of Fulton and Storer Avenues to its present location. The house was modernized, and a brick facade added to complement the church.

In 1955, Archbishop Hoban elevated Father Hannon to the rank of Monsignor. This honor was due, partly, to the fact that Father Hannon cared so unselfishly for

Father Hannon turns the first spadeful of dirt towards construction of the new church. When it was partially constructed, Mass was offered at ceremonies for the laying of the cornerstone. The next step was the erection of the steel framework. Below, Father Hannon blesses the site for the new convent in 1960

Monsignor Wilson, who lived in the parish house after his retirement.

The never-ending generosity of the people became apparent again when a new convent was built in 1961 that would house thirteen Sisters. It contained two parlors, a community room, large kitchen, dining room, bedrooms and a lovely chapel.

In June of 1961, Father John J. Cregan was appointed an assistant and served for nine years. Father was then transferred to St. Joseph's in Strongsville in June, 1970.

and, due to the nature of his illness, required surgery. He was recovering at St. John's Hospital, Cleveland, when he died suddenly, only three weeks after his operation. The people of the parish were deeply saddened by his death.

A New Pastor

Father Carl C. Wernet was then appointed pastor by Bishop Clarence G. Isсенmann in May, 1966. He came to Blessed Sacrament from St. Joseph's in Avon Lake, Ohio, the parish which he had established. Father Wernet served as pastor for three years. In 1969 he was transferred and made pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Church on the east side of Cleveland. "Father Carl" stayed at St. Francis until 1974, when he reached the age of retirement stipulated by the Diocese of Cleveland. At present he is in residence at Blessed Sacrament.

Father Thomas F. Higgins succeeded Father Wernet as the next pastor. Father Higgins was born in Ireland and educated there. He studied for the priesthood at St. Patrick's Seminary, Maynooth, near Dublin. Ordained in 1938, he came to the United States in September of that year. He served as a curate in Cleveland parishes until 1948, when he entered the Air Force. He came to Blessed Sacrament after serving twenty years as a chaplain. Unfortunately, shortly after his arrival, Father Higgins's health began to fail. He left Blessed Sacrament after two years, in 1971.

Bishop Isсенmann, implementing a concept new to the Cleveland Diocese, appointed co-pastors to Blessed Sacrament.

They were Father John E. Lesniak and Father Joseph Yarnovic. The co-pastorate team functioned for approximately three years. In 1974 the Most Reverend James Hickey, who succeeded to the bishopric after Bishop Issenmann retired, transferred Father Lesniak to Ascension Parish in Cleveland and Father Yarnovic to St. Mary of the Falls Parish in Olmsted Falls, Ohio.

Father John J. Cregan returned to Blessed Sacrament, this time as pastor. On the day of his return, a large crowd of parishioners gathered in the churchyard carrying signs welcoming him back. On December

Statement of Philosophy of Blessed Sacrament School

Blessed Sacrament School aims to educate the child spiritually, culturally socially, and intellectually, by providing the religious and academic climate in which he may grow to the full extent of his powers. The school attempts to gear its programs to the development of the highest potential, both intellectual and moral, of the child.

It aims to teach self-discipline as the highest discipline and to encourage creative thinking as the highest form of intellectual activity. Since Blessed Sacrament exists during a period of change in the Church and in the world, it strives to lead each child along the new lines of Church thought and practice, and to inculcate into each student a respect for himself and all others. The school endeavors as well to instill in each pupil an awareness of his privileges and responsibilities as an American citizen.

We believe that the school is only the secondary instrument, however, in the education of a child, and we uphold the Documents of the Church (Vatican II) which state that the parents are the primary educators of their children. We are here to assist the parents in this very important role.

In an effort to meet the needs of each individual child, Blessed Sacrament is striving to utilize the best in learning techniques and in educational technology. Some examples of this include departmentalization of classes, small group instruction, attempts to individualize whenever possible, and a wide range of supplementary materials and audio-visual materials.

We want to stress the cultural aspects of our "central city" atmosphere. We believe in opening our children up to the delights of the arts as much as possible, through more field trips, movies, concerts, plays, and speakers coming to our school.

We, the faculty of Blessed Sacrament School, feel that our enthusiasm, interest, and sincere efforts to inspire each child in our classes, strive to bring about a real "faith community" in the school. Hopefully, these efforts will bring about in each child a better understanding of himself and his relationship to his community. Ultimately, this understanding should assist the child in becoming an integral part of the world in which he finds himself growing up.

8, 1974, the official installation of Father Cregan took place. The church was overflowing with people that evening, and festivities continued at a lovely reception held in the church auditorium after the Mass.

Four months after Father Cregan's installation, the Parent-Teacher Unit celebrated its Golden Anniversary. Founded in 1925, the P.T.U. has worked diligently and successfully to promote the needs and welfare of the children of Blessed Sacrament School.

Under the leadership of Father Cregan, Blessed Sacrament Parish has experienced further growth as a spiritual community. In order to update liturgical participation, involvement of the laity has increased with the use of lay ministers and commentators. There are active grade school and high school Confraternity and Adult Education programs. Sister Mary Beth Marquard works diligently in the area of Parish Ministry. Mrs. Dorothy Karas, as principal of the grade school C.C.D., and Sister Jean Lardie, H.M., as principal of the high school C.C.D., strive to provide the best religious education possible for the students.

There have been necessary changes in the interior of the church. The baptismal font has been moved to the sanctuary and a confessional was remodeled for the purpose of face-to-face confessions. The baptistry and a confessional were removed from the rear of the church, and in their place a multi-purpose room was constructed. The rectory was modernized and redecorated in the last year in preparation for the Diamond Jubilee.

Blessed Sacrament Parish, as it is today, is the fruition of seventy-five years of Christian growth. In an ever-changing society, the people of Blessed Sacrament, under inspired guidance, have remained true to the faith of their forefathers.

A Prayer For Priests

Keep them, I pray Thee, dearest Lord,
Keep them, for they are Thine
Thy priests whose lives burn out before
Thy consecrated shrine.
Keep them for they are in the world
Though from the world apart,
When earthly pleasures tempt, allure –
Shelter them in Thy heart.
Keep them, and comfort them in hours
Of loneliness and pain
When all their life of sacrifice
For souls seems but in vain.
Keep them, and O remember Lord
They have no one but Thee
Yet they have only human hearts,
With human frailty,
Keep them as spotless as the Host
That daily, they caress –
Their every thought and word and deed
Deign, dearest Lord, to bless.
